
Anyone know where Chicane went?

Posted by Osceola - 2008/03/19 12:26

Their website is gone :(and some of us were wondering if they are still doing business. They are great folks who made great tank bags etc. and were vendors at Paonina the last few years.

=====

Re:Anyone know where Chicane went?

Posted by BobOdenweller - 2008/03/19 21:07

I see that the domain name chicaneusa.com expired on 3/4/08 and is awaiting renewal or deletion. Maybe they are still in business but accidently let the domain registry lapse. Kinda doubt it though, I did a quick search and found a post where someone that was trying to get a hold of them in December and where unable to.

=====

Re:Anyone know where Chicane went?

Posted by pjessen - 2008/04/10 13:07 tried to reach last fall/September. The site was up but no reply...it's a tough business...

=====

Re:Anyone know where Chicane went?

Posted by k7ugt - 2008/04/24 19:18

Miranda reports they are still around and plan on attending the Rally. She spoke with Randy at Chicane, and he reported that their factory in China burnt to the ground. Of course, after they had placed & paid for this years orders. They are presently in country arranging for another supplier. While this was going on, their ISP ran off with the Website, so if all this sounds like something out of "Days of Our Lives", you're right! Perhaps we will see more information when Miranda has time to post. Very unfortunate, I wish them the best.

=====