
How to include a picture in your post

Posted by F800GS - 2008/05/28 20:05

Any picture you want to display on the Forum cannot be larger than 499 x 499 pixels (4.99 x 4.99 inches) or 50KB, whichever is more restrictive. You may need to resize your picture before displaying a copy on the forum.

When you start a new Forum thread or post, there will be a yellow bar above the text window which provides some dynamic help instructions.

If you are linking to an externally hosted picture, you can use the IMG button above the yellow bar to help format the instruction to access your picture.

There will be a box below the text window where you can enter or browse for an image from your computer which you want to put in your post. Type your text, then put your cursor where you want the picture to appear (above, below, or in the middle of the message text). Next to that box is a button labeled IMG, which you will click on to embed a tag to display that picture. The picture will not display in a post preview, but will show up after you submit the post. This method actually uploads your picture to our website.

Thanks for participating in our Forum.

=====